183- Schumann Waves, Mode-4

Complex description: This program has imitation of Schumann wave frequencies. Human is in resonance with the world around and needs different signals from the environment which are today called 'biological normal'. The main frequency of Schumann waves is 78 Hz. Professor of electro-physics from Germany Schumann in 1950s calculated resonant frequencies of the Earth's shell space which is formed by the Earth surface that has good electrical conductivity and lower boundary of the biosphere. It is remarkable that hippocampus in the brain of all newborns and mammals has the same frequency. This area is responsible for attention and concentration capacity that is significant for sleep. If the environmental signal of 78 Hz is absent, then, according to the experiments held on volunteers, there is a temporary disorientation and headaches appear. Momentary supply of Schumann waves stabilized a person for a few days. It means that the given 'biological normal' can be present not constantly, and organism can remember the nature frequencies and then continues to generate them independently. The program ends with alpha rhythm to energize a person. A course of 8 - 10 sessions once a week is recommended.
